Great Preparations Being Made for the McKean Co. Fair

SMETHPORT PEOPLE ARE LOOKING FORWARD THIS YEAR FOR A WONDERFUL PROGRAM AT McKEAN COUNTY FAIR. HON. R. W. HILTON, PRESIDENT OF THE FAIR ASSOCIATION, IS IN NEW YORK THIS WEEK MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR THE OCCASION.

The pledge of the new management of the Fair Association for a bigger and better fair this year is being fulfilled in every way. Secretary H. J. Rice has released for publication the race program for the last three days of the week, and a glance will show that this, the most important feature of the week for the average visitor at the grounds, is well taken care of.

After a lapse of a period of years, every effort is being bent to bring to the fair strings of racing horses from all sections of the country. To this end, there has been a return to the liberal purses which were offered during the first years of the existence of the Fair Association. Each day, with the exception of Tuesday, there will be three big races. On Wednesday and Thursday there will be one pacing and one trotting event each for a purse of $300, and also a running race for a purse of $150; the program Friday afternoon will be varied by the substitution of a county race for the trotting event. The fact that the McKean County Fair has been set for September 14 to 17 and that it is the only fair in this section at that time, following as it does the week after the fairs at Little Valley and Warren, should insure there being a good deal of competition in the races.

Another idea besides that of good races, upon which the new officers are putting considerable thought, is the matter of free entertainment. It is planned to fill in every minute's time between races with the best kind of acts on the race track and the platform in front of the grand-stand. Hon. R. W. Hilton, president of the Fair Association is in New York city at the present time booking the free attractions.

A decided change, and one that it is felt will be approved by the general public, has been made in the matter of the season tickets. Heretofore they have sold for $1.00, but have served merely for admittance at the outside gate. This year the tickets will sell for $1.50, but in addition to providing four single admissions at the gate, they will allow entrance to the grandstand as well. Season tickets will soon be on sale and may be bought up until September 13th, or the day before the fair.

The sale of the tickets will be turned over to the Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Granges and other similar organizations of the county, who will be allowed a commission of 10 per cent for their work. The low price of the season tickets in spite of the greater expense incident to putting on the fair, should bring ready sale in as much as $1.50 represents exactly half the cost of the various admissions if bought separately.

Work has already been started on the grounds to put the track in good shape and to improve the buildings for exhibits. Mr. Newton Hyde is in charge of this work. The catalogue is nearing completion and will be ready for distribution the end of next week. The race program is appended:

Wednesday, September 15th

2:30 Pace	$300
2:30 Trot	$300
Running Race—1-2 mile	$150

Thursday, September 16th

2:15 Pace	$300
2.24 Trot	$300
Running Race—1-2 mile	$1.50

Friday, September 17th

2.22 Pace	$300

County Race	$25

OFFERS FREE SHADE TREES

Harrisburg, Pa., August 1.—Free shade trees for planting along the streets have been offered to every municipality in the state by Gifford Pinchot, the state's chief forester. He urged the city authorities to accept the assistance of experts of the Pennsylvania Department of Forestry in the selection of new trees and in the care of the trees they now have. Forester Pinchot also advocated the organization of shade tree commission. His letter to clerks of councils all over the state follows:

"The Pennsylvania Department of Forestry is anxious to help you make your town an even more pleasant place in which to live. The value of systematic planting and proper care of shade trees along streets to this end is very great. To get the best results from your trees responsibility for this work should be definitely fixed.

"A live shade tree commision has greatly benefitted many cities and boroughs. If you have not already done so provisions of the Act of May 31, 1907, P. L. 349 might well be accepted by your Council and such a commission might be named.

"The Department of Forestry will be glad to co-operate with the shade tree commission of your borough by recommending the proper species, time and places for planting, correct methods for pruning, treatment for fungi and insect attacks, etc., as well as furnish trees, free of charge, for municipal and educational planting.

"If you think well of the above I would appreciate it very much if you would bring it to the attention of your council, and at your convenience let me know the results. This department wants to be of use."

THE LOCAL TEAM LOST HARD-FOUGHT GAME LAST SUNDAY

Sunday's baseball game went to Franklinville by a score of 9 to 3. The visiting team had somewhat of streak of luck, although they displayed wonderful talent. The local boys had eight hits to their opponents' four. For three innings it looked as if there was to be a repitition of the contest staged two weeks ago when the weather interfered after six scoreless innings had been played, but the fourth proved Smethport's undoing, and after that the lead was always safely in the visitors' hands.

Smethport's greatest difficulty was in the defensive, no less than ten plays being bungled, most of which entered directly into the scoring. This is clearly evidenced by the fact that Franklinville scored 9 runs and made but 4 hits toward earning them.

Parker pitched a very pretty game for the visitors. He did not appear to have as much "stuff" as Nelson for Smethport, but his control was good. But three men faced him in six of the nine innings; he whiffed six batters and walked not a one. At the few critical times he received the best of support.

Paul Denning was in the game every minute, and made a marvelous catch in center. McGowan also captured a man by his famous tumble dive after a pop-fly.

Nelson, pitching for Smethport, succeeded in putting a good deal of 'dope' on the ball; the Franklinville men were unable to find it; but five walks and a couple of wild pitches were damaging.

Smethport nearly shoved over the first run of the game in the last of the third. After Clark was out, Josephson got a flute hit through first, but was out at second on a "fielder's choice" on Nelson's infield tap. Paul Moran, after defeating his side-kick, Frank, at a game of mummy-peg on the court house lawn gave hopes of something good with a double to deep center, but Parker settled down and fanned Gallagher.

Franklinville scored three runs in the fourth on two errors, a steal of second, a walk, a hit and the successful use of the "squeeze play." In Smethport's half, two scores were made on Denning's two-bagger to left, Hull's hit through third, and an error.

In the fifth Franklinville scored two runs on two errors, a sacrifice, and a hit; in the sixth another run; likewise in the seventh, and two in the eighth. Smethport's last run

REQUESTS FOR STATE POLICE PROTECTION

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 5.—Many requests for State Police protection at state fairs, Grange picnics anr other large outdoor gatherings are being received by Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Police Force. He is meeting all demands for the services of his troopers in every part of the state.

In addition to the safeguards thrown about picnics and fairs, the police are carefully patrolling the country-side districts during the absence of farmers from their homes. Under the new system, recently inaugurated by Major Adams, the dwellers in rural sections are given double police security.

To Address McKean County Grange Picnic

FRED BRENCKMAN

Secretary Pennsylvania State Grange

Fred Brenckman of Harrisburg will address the McKean County Grange Picnic at Turtle Point, Tuesday, August 10th.

A few years ago the Pennsylvania State Grange established headquarters in Harrisburg. The object of this move was to have someone to look after farm legislation. The executive committee employed Mr. Brenckman to look after the headquarters. Later on he was elected Secretary to the Pennsylvania State Grange. He has looked after the farm legislation during the past two sessions of the legislature, and he will have a message of interest to the farmers.

In addition to the State Secretary, Honorable Fred Rasmussen, Secretary of Agriculture will address the farmers. In the past able men have been secured for the Grange picnic but it is doubtful if abler speakers ever addressed a farm body of McKean County than Rasmussen and Brenckman.

SMETHPORT AND WELLSVILLE WILL CRASH SATURDAY

Smethport's tennis players are busy almost every afternoon these days in preparation for a number of meets to be played off soon. As now planned, Wellsville N. Y., will be here next Saturday afternoon to meet one doubles team and three individuals in singles. The Wellsville team has quite a reputation, having taken Olean and Corning, N. Y., and the Alfred University team into camp in meets held on the home and foreign courts. But the Smethport players have something in the way of a reputation to live up to also. The absence of Theron Lyle and Howard Brownell will be felt, but the rest will try to give a good accounting of themselves. Later a return meet will be played off in Wellsville.

Bradford has a doubles team who are anxious to meet the Smethport pair, Scott F. Redfield and W. A. Brownell, and it is planned to accommodate these gentlemen both here and in Bradford later. A third meet is under consideration with a neighboring town also, but announcement cannot be made now. Of course, the big event of the season will be the annual Northwestern Pennsylvania championships which will this year be played off at DuBois. Smethport is expecting to send an especially big delegation this year in the hope of holding up her reputation in this section of the state. This meet will begin on August 23.

Plans Completed Coming Conv

THE UNITED ENTERTAINMENT COMPA ALL ABOUT 20 ATTRACTIONS. T NOVELTY COMPANY WILL FURN ESSARY ELECTRICITY. 16th REG WILL BE ON HAND. COME ON OV A REAL TREAT.

Two big advances have be en made duri toward the realization of plans for the big tion here the 18th and 19th of this month. monthly meeting of the Bucktail Post which daf night, John Connelly, who was put in sions and street entertainment for the two announce the signing of a con tract with the tainment Company to put on a carnival, the Post Commander had to re port the pre the presence of the 16th Regi mental Band post has been angling for a long time.

It is probable that the carnival company will be here for the week of the 16th, closing perhaps with the convention. The United Entertainment Company has in all about 20 attractions, all of which will be brought here; of this number, about five are shows, one is a merry-go-round, and the rest are concessions of various kinds. Arrangements are being made with Backus Novelty Company to furnish the necessary electricity. The company are touring this section of the state, having been last at Brockwayville where they were visited and signed up by Mr. Connelly.

Last Thursday afternoon Guy McCoy loaded up his car with a bunch of boosters and took them over into Potter County where they waylaid Governor Sproul at Keating Summit and later at Austin while he was on his way to the Ole Bull celebration near there Friday, and asked for his help in getting the 16th Regimental Band to stop off here for the convention. Assurance was given of the use of his influence to that end, so that the Post feels fairly safe in expecting this great organization. Definite word to that effect is expected soon.

The 16th Regimental Band will be one of the greatest treats that the convention will bring the people of the county. It is a truly famous organization, having been originally, with the old 16th Regiment, later with the 112th Infantry of the 28th Division when it won a great contest between about 30 bands at Le Mons, France, and now with the 16th Regiment of the Pennsylvania National Guard. It consists of 62 pieces, all of the men are artists, and the leadership is superb. The band is now at the Mount Gretna encampment, but will leave that assignment on the 15th, in plenty of time to get here.

Monday night's meeting brought out the fact that all committees are working out their special tasks in fine shape. Mr. Johnson reported for the Finance Committee, the active work of which is being done by J. L. Morrison, that subscriptions are coming in satisfactorily. The Entertainment Committee took up the matter of closing the convention Thursday night with a big fantastic parade and dance. The dance committee announced that the proceeds from Wednesday night's benefit dance measured up fully to expectation, but requested that one matter be straightened out. The handbills advertising the dance failed to make clear the fact that the orchestra itself donated its services and that they were not paid by any one at all.

ASKS FRIENDLY AID

A problem has arisen in connection with the convention in the solution of which the Bucktails ask the friendly aid of the community. This is the matter of housing the delegates from the various posts in the county and the visiting ex-service men who will want to stay over night in town Wednesday and perhaps in lesser numbers Thursday. The difficulty is raised in this matter by the limited capacity of the two hotels which are now operating.

Upon hearing of this problem, several citizens of the town offered their homes so far as they could, to taking care of the visitors. Their generous action aroused the question as to whether this difficulty might not be solved in this way. In order to learn whether or not this plan will be feasible the Post is asking through these columns for the help of the community's householders. They request all who can see their way clear to take care of one or any larger number of ex-soldiers for over night, Wednesday and breakfast Thursday to get into communication with the Post Commander, Dr. W. A. Ostrander and furnish their names together with the number they will be prepared to handle. Charges for the entertainment provided will be left entirely to those offering their hospitality. Prompt action is urged so that the practicability of this plan may be tested out.

It is our aim to let the public see improvements at this office. When city dailies notice our improvements it's time to continue the good work—we most sincerely thank you.

"Our platform is not molasses to catch flies" quote the Democrats in their 1912 campaign. But they have been remarkably careful not to mention molasses or sugar this year.

* * * * * *

It is sincerely to be hoped that Senator Harding will adhere to his determination to confine his speech making to his home town. This thing of a presidential candidate traveling about with all the paraphernalia and effects of a circus, a custom begun in the sensational Bryan campaign of 1896, has done much to cheapen and weaken the highest executive office in the country. It is high time to divorce the presidential office from vaudeville.—Fort Wayne News.

Baker's Monopoly.

Representative Wells Goodykoontz of West Virginia, declaring that the profiteers should be prosecuted and punished, referred recently to the high price of shoes. "The father that has to provide shoes for half a dozen children knows that something is wrong and that he is being denied relief," said Mr. Goodykoontz. "The cause of his grievance is first the action of the War Department in buying up all the leather in the country; second, the failure of the attorney general to prosecute importers, manufacturers, jobbers and others whose profits, in many cases, for a single year were sufficient to equal the capital employed."

* * * * * *

The Probationary Plan.

Representative Albert Johnson of Washington states that the House committee of immigration and naturalization is preparing a bill to restrict the immigration of Japanese into the United States. Upper classes would be permitted to enter the United States by passport and a probationary plan would be placed in effect governing the immigration of all others. The passports would be for a limited period, Representative Johnson says, and would be given only to lawyers, doctors and students. The probationary plan would give an opportunity to immigrants to accept the laws and customs of the United States within a certain time and also give the government a chance to determine whether the immigrants are desirable.

Cold Cuts.

Legislation providing for the regulation of the cold storage industry has almost reached completion in the Republican Congress. A bill introduced by Representative Elijah C. Hutchinson of New Jersey, was passed by the Senate and House of Representatives during the last session, and is now in conference. According to Representtive Gilbert N. Haugen of Iowa, the act has many admirable features. "It regulater the time foods can be held in cold storage to one year," he states, "by prohibiting the shipment in interstate commerce of any food that has been held in cold storage for a longer period. It provides for regulating the sanitary conditions of cold storage warehouses and requires a report on all foods held in cold storage, which will afford accurate information as to the food supply on hand—information as to hoarding, holding and manipulation of prices, and permits the officials enforcing the act to secure strict compliance with its provisions." The act will be reported to Congress from conference for final disposition at the next session in December.

A Kept Pledge.

The Congressional Record shows that no pork-barrel legislation was enacted during the recent session of Congress. In strict adherence to a policy of economy in government expenditures the majority members were "willing to forego their insistence upon local works and enterprises which they and their constituents believe are worthy," says Representative Mondell, Republican floor leader, "though by so doing they run the risk of being charged with indifference or failure. Congress authorized no new public building construction and only made appropriations for the continuation of public building work under way estimated to be essential by the Secretary of the Treasury. Although providing adequately for the works underway and for projects of unquestionable value to general commence, a 'porkless' river and harbor appropriation bill carried no new items or provisions of local expenditure. A Congress that does forego appropriations of this kind is entitled to commendation."

While Palmer Had the Bee.

Washington, Aug. 5.—(Special correspondence.—An aniversary in the campaign against the high cost of living, waged by the Democratic administration, is approaching. A year ago, after Congress had been in session nearly four years, President Wilson demanded that it continue in session to enact a law giving Attorney-General Palmer more power for the prosecution of profiteers in the necessaries of life. "Congress stayed in session and enacted the law," asserts Representative Wells Goodykoontz, of West Virginia, "although the members thought that the President and the attorney general had already on hand statutes broad enough to send every profiteer in this broad land to prison. Armed with the old law and the new written by his own hand, what did the attorney general do? Nothing, practically nothing. In the words of one of the senators, 'the attorney general has set a few mouse traps when he should have been setting bear traps.' Flying the black flag of piracy, with their felonious fingers in the pockets of the people, the profiteers have plied their trade unmolested and unafraid."

Part of the Omelet.

When the Government took over the railroads on January 1, 1918 they owned about 2,260,000 freight cars. Of that number 57 per cent were reported in need of repair and unfit for service. It had been the custom of the roads to purchase 100,000 new cars each year to take the place of those used up in the service, but during all the two years and two months of Federal control the Government did not exceed that number of additions to the rolling stock. Officials of the roads declare that today there are unfit for use and actually out of service 50,000 cars more than when federal control began, and thousands of other cars are kept running which ought to be sent to the shops. These are a few of the disheartening handicaps the road owners had to face when they received their properties back from the government. It is a fact, however, that in spite of adverse circumstances, the roads are having more freight under private management this year than they did under federal operation at the same time last year. Given time to overcome the obstacles to efficient management that they inherited from the era of government control, the roads will give the people a transportation standard that could never have been approached had federal officials continued to misdirect their affairs.

PENNSYLVANIANS ARE PLANNING THEIR 2ND DRIVE ON RICHMOND

Thousands of Pennsylvania's selected men already are planning their second drive on Richmond, where the first annual reunion of the Eightieth, Blue Ridge, Division Veterans' Association is to be held September 4th, through 6th. They will arrive in the convention city, close to Camp Lee where the division was trained for its battle effectiveness overseas, three years, almost to the day, after the first groups of selected men from Virginia, Pennsylvania and West Virginia passed through to begin their period of army life.

The Veterans' Association of the division, which made an enviable record for achievement against the Germans, was formed while the men still were in France, and, since their return to civil life, has grown to conspicuous proportions. At present, there are approximately seventeen thousand men on the membership rolls, each of them having seen active service under Maj. Gen. Adelbert Cronkhite, who is to attend the first reunion. Only former members of the division are eligible for membership, and it is expected that between six and eight thousand of these veterans will participate in the drive to Richmond for the first annual reunion.

Extensive preparations are being made for the entertainment of the men and for affording them accommodations at minimum rates while in the city. Business sessions, at which the association's organization on a permanent basis is to be perfected, are to be short and snappy. Picnics and a big ball at one of the Richmond armories are to afford the best of which Richmond is capable of producing, while minimum railroad rates and the billeting of visitors in specially arranged dormitories will reduce expenses to the lowest possible figure. Committees of the association, with those representing the Richmond post, already are busily engaged in perfecting these details. The men themselves now are voting on the advisability of parading over a short route, while a memorial service, at which United States Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who had a son with the 80th, is likely to be the principal speaker, will be a Sunday feature. Saturday evening, September 4, will be devoted to the reunion of smaller units within the division.

R. Allen Ammons, 420 American National Bank building, Richmond, Va., is chairman of the reunion committee and inquiries should be addressed to him.

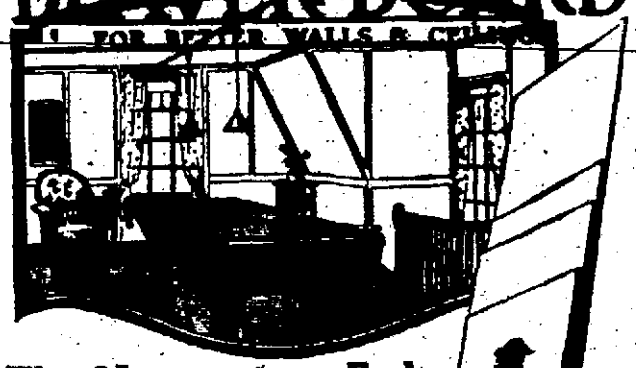
BEAVER BOARD

FOR INTERIOR WALLS & CEILINGS



The Means to an End of Waste Space

A few panels of Beaver Board, a little wood trim, a hammer, nails and saw—all you need to cover up old cracked plaster and wallpaper and put new life into any part of the house.

Beaver Board plays a major part in this worthwhile operation. While it is covering up unsightly cracks and dingy wallpaper it is providing a surface for painting and decorating, and ending the wall and ceiling question once and for all time.

Beaver Board is built up into large flawless panels from strong, pure wood fibres. When you have lived with it you will know why it is displacing lath and plaster in new houses and putting new life into old ones.
